Curtiss-Wright Defense Solutions to Expand Position in U.S. Navy Shipbuilding and Upgrade Markets with Acquisition of 901D Holdings, LLC

Will add leading supplier of U.S. Navy Ruggedized Shipboard Enclosures and Electronic Subsystems to existing portfolio of U.S. naval fleet products and services for DoD maritime customers announced today that it expects to significantly enhance its position in and commitment to the U.S. and international markets for ruggedized shipboard enclosures and electronic subsystems following Curtiss-Wright Corporation's announced intention to acquire 901D Holdings, LLC. The acquisition is expected to close in December 2019, subject to the receipt of regulatory approval and other closing conditions. 901D is a leading designer and manufacturer of mission-critical integrated electronic systems, subsystems and ruggedized shipboard enclosure solutions supporting every major U.S. Navy platform. The addition of 901D's product portfolio will greatly expand the breadth of the Defense Solutions division's products and services, and will enable it to better serve its customers in the U.S. and worldwide.

ASHBURN, Va. – November 26, 2019 – Curtiss-Wright's Defense Solutions division

"With the acquisition of 901D, Curtiss-Wright's Defense Solutions division firmly establishes its position as a leading designer and manufacturer of MIL-SPEC Naval Shipboard ruggedized enclosure and electronic subsystems," said Lynn Bamford, Senior Vice President and General Manager, Defense and Power. "Combined with our current mission-critical maritime solutions, this acquisition further expands our ability to provide shipboard solutions on all U.S. aircraft carriers, submarines, surface combatants, and amphibious ships.”

About 901D

Founded in 1999, 901D provides complete design, analysis, integration and testing of MIL-SPEC subsystems and ruggedized COTS products. 901D’s products include qualified electronic system cabinets, modular console and workstation designs that support a wide array of surface ship and submarine applications. It provides customers with a single source for complete, integrated subsystems ready for software installation. The acquired business will operate within Curtiss-Wright’s Defense segment. 901D is headquartered in Airmont, New York, and has approximately 85 employees.
